

Astoria Software

www.astoriasoftware.com

Originally established as part of the Xerox Corporation, Astoria Software – based out of San Francisco – is an on-demand solution leader for enterprise content management. The company helps create business-critical content and documents, providing an end-to-end solution that includes authoring, content management and rendering systems, all integrated and hosted on-demand.

BIRT is used in the Astoria Workbench application, which provides access to the component content management repository. Integrated BIRT reporting enables technical documentation managers and others to see the status of their publications as they evolve through the authoring, review, approval, translation, and delivery phases. Reporting is a critical aspect of monitoring project progress, and enables users to more quickly assess the status of their projects. Astoria staff easily integrated the BIRT report engine into their solution, were particularly impressed by BIRT's extensibility and easy-to-use report designer.

Information source from 'Get Your BIRT Rocks T-Shirt program' and Astoria Software (http://www.astoriasoftware.com/about_us/) on 3/31/2011.