Centreon is a network, system, applicative supervision and monitoring tool. It is based upon the most effective Open Source monitoring engine: Nagios. Centreon can be used as a Nagios GUI.

Centreon Business Intelligence (Centreon BI) offers a profound exploitation of data collected by the Centreon monitoring system. With a powerful reporting engine behind it, it provides the possibility of generating custom-made dashboards on the performance and availability of an organization's IT. Reports are based on templates and Centreon BI provides a first series of customizable templates that are adaptable with a number of resources. Each template uses a series of parameters allowing it to extend its usage. The number and range of reports can also be extended; one way to do so is to develop skills on BIRT software.
