Business Intelligence-focused DASHbay – based out of San Francisco, CA – works with clients to gather, analyze and deliver data in an accurate, secure, quick and economical manner. The company's expertise is in Web 2.0 delivery models and data analysis/reporting, uniting disciplines to bring compelling data visualizations directly into web applications. Implementing cloud-based deployments of open source components is also part of its mandate.

DASHbay uses BIRT in its Worldwide Carbon Emissions Reduction application. Developed from scratch for its clients, the solution displays carbon emission reductions by country, consolidated by region; it allows drill down to country information provided by the CIA. BIRT is used to report those reductions; the company's prospective customers have said it is clear and easy to understand, while DASHbay itself calls it lightweight and easily integrated, with attractive output.
