B2D Solutions has a fast-cycle closed-loop solution called Live Performance Management (LPM), designed to drive operational performance to the next level.

It focuses on improvement in the areas that impact operating effectiveness – including throughput, quality and inventory – to drive capital efficiency and value creation.

B2D's services help their customers derive maximum value from their Live Performance Management Solution. These services include manufacturing performance improvement consulting, system integration, technical and user training, and on-line technical support through my B2Di.

In November 2005, B2D released B2DiQ4.0 with complete web services (SOA) architecture from the device to the enterprise and open source BIRT.
